

If you see the “Zimele Approved” stamp on your life or funeral policy, know that you are in safe hands. The Zimele stamp represents a new set of standards developed by trusted life insurance companies in partnership with Government. Among the benefits that these standards guarantee are life and funeral policies at fair prices and policy details that are easy to understand and are available in your preferred language. You don’t have to go for an HIV or any other medical test to apply, and if you can’t make a payment your policy won’t be cancelled. All from the trusted companies listed below. For more information speak to your financial adviser or life insurance company. Or visit www.zimele-loa.co.za
