ASISA COMPETITION LAW ALERT

ASISA and its members recognise that all South African consumers have the right to the benefits of free and open competition.

It is widely recognised that industry associations perform functions which are legitimate, which benefit consumers and which promote the competitiveness and efficiency of the industry as a whole. However, given the nature of industry associations, participation within an industry association may provide a platform for members meeting under its auspices to co-ordinate their actions. ASISA recognises that some of its members are in a horizontal relationship (i.e. competitors) and/or in a vertical relationship (i.e. firms and their suppliers, customers or both).

Accordingly, care must be exercised to ensure that ASISA is not used as a platform for collusion and all activities must be carefully measured against the prevailing competition law in South Africa. ASISA and its members recognise the need to exercise extreme care to avoid any violation of competition law and to immediately raise the suspicion of a possible violation of competition law.

Members are referred to the ASISA Competition Law Compliance Policy, Guidelines and Procedures, which are available on www.asisa.org.za.
